

After Carl's Stroke

I believe that it was in 2003 that Carl suffered a rather serious stroke. Afterwards, Carl's doctors recommended that he go to Hartford Hospital to their Stroke Center. After a MRI the doctors discovered that a blood vessel in the brain, which was part of the Circle of Willis, was very constricted near. They recommended that Carl have an angioplasty in his brain.

The hospital had just purchased new computer equipment, which facilitated this delicate surgery. The doctor was extremely skilled and he was able to open the blockage close to 95% capacity.

After a few weeks of recovery Carl began returning to his regular schedule. We also resumed taping our cable access TV show Making Known the Unknown. We always had a lot to move, since we brought many pieces of artwork to decorate the set. As I opened the door with the first load of art to go into the van, I looked up into the immense expanse of sky that one could see from the center. There to my amazement was a double rainbow in the sky, They were 3/4 of a circle in the sky. I took this as a sign that the Spirit people were happy to have us resume our work.
