

Alien Abduction

In 1938, three entities came to Carl. These entities looked totally different than anyone living on this planet. They were small in the build of the body, and had small arms and legs. Their eyes were very large, and were not round like ours. Also, we have the white part of the eye, they do not. Their eyes looked very moist and shiny, and were a deep brownish color. These entities told Carl that they lived in another planetary system, where their sun is dim, and smoky-colored. Carl later realized this was the reason why their eyes were so large. Their environment had to be much darker than ours, because their sun didn't give off as much light. Therefore, they would need larger eyes to see. Furthermore, these entities had no hair on their heads, and they also didn't have ears. There were holes where their ears should be, but there would be no place to hang a pair of eyeglasses. Their mouths were very small. Carl also realized that he never heard them talking to one another. They must have used mental telepathy to communicate with each other. Yet, they were not identical; there were small differences between the three of them. They were different heights, but all were short compared to us. They reminded Carl of small children, about two years old. Their clothes were a sliver gray and fit as a tight stocking, with no seams, as if they were painted on. There were no lines in their clothes, such as where we button our shirts, or the top of our pants.

They also had the ability to control a person's mind. I know there were times that my mind was frozen, and when I became conscious again, I was in another location. I had no memory of moving from the first place to the second. Furthermore, they also had the ability to manipulate time.

These entities escorted Carl "on trips" three times during his life. The first time he was five years old and the second time he was nine. During his first experience with them at five years old, and it was the month of May. Carl's mother, Goldie, and Miss Abbey, our neighbor, were preparing string beans, as they sat in the rocking chairs on the porch. It was a clear and beautiful day. In those days farmers would rise very early, and work in the fields from four in the morning until ten. After that it was much too hot to work in the fields. Remember, I in the early 1930s, during the Great depression it was extremely humid in the southern part of North Carolina, There was no air-conditioning in those days.

Carl remembered Goldie and Miss Abby had a big washtub full of string beans, and they were getting them ready to can them, which would preserve them to use during the winter months. Carl was sitting in a swing that was also on the porch, when he noticed these three different looking entities, walking along the dirt road that ran along side the house. As these strangers approached, they must have "zapped him," and took over Carl's mind, because he didn't remember what happened after that. The next thing Carl remembered was at the top of a knoll, where we were headed. It was the highest spot in the area, where at one time, there was a fire tower. There was a ship there. It resembled a 22 gauge bullet sitting on its end, with the point of it aimed at the sky. As they approached it, a ramp opened, as they walked up the ramp. As soon as they reached the doorway, Carl's mind went blank again.

Carl next remembered sitting in the ship. Everything looked as though it was made of stainless steel. He was scared and frightened, because he did not know what they may do to him. Then his mind went blank again.

In Carl's next recollection, he was sitting facing a porthole, which now reminded him of the kind you would find on ships. Carl's face was close to the porthole, but at the time, he did not understand what he was seeing. Far into the distance I saw this ball that was green and blue. In his adult life, after watching the pictures beamed from NASA, Carl realized that he had been looking at the earth from outer space.

They had something hooked to him, which Carl could not understand what it was. He could only surmise that they gave him oxygen, but he was not certain. Then he remembered begging them to go home. He desperately wanted to go home.

Again, Carl's memory of this event is spotty because these entities were controlling his mind, so he would only remember what they wanted him to remember. His next memory was of lying on a table, which was stainless steel. However, it did not feel as hard as steel would be. Nor, was it cool, as steel would be. It was difficult to describe. Carl didn't know what they were doing. However, after that he did bleed a little, not a lot after he went to the bathroom. Eventually that cleared up and stopped.

Carl had no other memory except when they were back on the ground, in the same location from which they left. Two of these entities walked ahead of me, while the last one walked behind me. They escorted me down the dirt road, all the way to Carl's home. When he came to his yard, these entities stopped, and Carl returned to full consciousness. He walked up on the porch and sat on the swing.

Goldie spoke and said, "My God, Miss Abbey, something is wrong. Look where the sun is. We have just started fixing these beans. Where did the time go? We should have been nearly finished by now."

Goldie went into the house to see what time it was on the mantle clock. She came running back out to the porch, and said, "You know it is almost four o'clock!"

They had started to work on the beans sometime between noon and 1 o'clock, and only had a few of them done!

Mama kept saying, "I don't understand this! I don't understand this!" Then she looked at Carl and said, "Son, what is the matter?"

Carl did not remember how he responded. That night Carl had a terrible nightmare. He was screaming at top of his lungs, "Mama, don't let them take me. Mama, don't let them take me." It took her quite some time to awaken Carl. Evidently, Carl was either having a fever, or he was in such a deep sleep that she couldn't awaken him. Carl remembered her telling Alvie about what had happened. Alvie had been working in Wilmington, about thirty-five miles away.

The Diary of a Medium: Psychic Events in the Life of Rev. Carl R. Hewitt

Carl had shared with me that during one of the times he was aboard this alien ship, they implanted a round metal ball into his right side of his forehead. Carl said that at one point in his life, a doctor discovered this implant, and wanted to surgically remove it. The procedure was scheduled, however, just a day or so before it was to be done, Spirit forbade Carl from having it removed. Carl obeyed Spirit's wishes and the implant remained in his body for the rest of his life.
