

Spirit Saves Carl From Drowning!

Carl told me this story several times, however, I do not remember much of the detail. I do know that Carl and a friend of his was swimming in a lake. There was a platform floating on the lake, where swimmers could climb upon and rest and sunbathe.

Carl and his friend were on this platform. The friend dived in the water, and swam off. He urged Carl to follow him. Carl also dived off the platform. I don't know what happened, but Carl was soon in trouble, and was beginning to drown. I remember Carl saying, he suddenly saw a big hand that scooped him up and placed him on the platform. Carl understood that it was Spirit that saved him, and he was thoroughly convinced that if the hand had not appeared, that he would have drowned.
